COVID-19 Assessment Centres

Three COVID-19 Assessment Centres have opened in the Grey Bruce region (Kincardine, Owen Sound, Hanover) to help identify and triage patients with symptoms of COVID-19.

The Assessment Centres will help expand hospital capacity to assess and screen patients who have symptoms of COVID-19, and free up Emergency Department resources to continue to safely manage the normal volume of patients.

COVID-19

Who should come to the Assessment Centre?

The Assessment Centres are for individuals with symptoms of COVID-19 who are having difficulty managing at home. Please follow these guidelines to determine if you should come.

- If you do not have symptoms of COVID-19, please do not come to the Assessment Centre.
- If you have mild symptoms, and you can manage at home, please stay home and self-isolate. Do not come to the Assessment Centre. Information on self-isolation, as well as guidance for care givers and family members in the home, is available here: www.ontario.ca/coronavirus.
- If you have symptoms, and are struggling at home, come to an Assessment Centre.
- If you are very ill, go to the nearest Emergency Department or call 911.

Please note, due to limited availability of swabs, testing will only be completed for high risk patients.

The most common symptoms of COVID-19 are fever, cough, and difficulty breathing. Most patients experience mild symptoms, and recover fully without treatment within two weeks.
